XinDuQiao is a picturesque small Tibetan town and famous for its plateau pasture scenery, with vivid green grassland, streams, mountains, and Tibetan counting houses surrounding it. It is called the paradise of photographers, due to the wonderful natural lights and stunning landscape here. The paradise of photographers: The best time to do photography during the year is autumn. The first wisp of the dawn's sunshine, or the twilight's last gleam, accompanied with some slow-flying clouds will undoubtedly burnish all the amazing photos you take here.

The 'World Wonder' and 'Fairy Land on Earth' are Endowed with numerous lakes, waterfalls, hot springs, dense woods, fragrant flowers, peculiar peaks, and grotesque rocks, Mugecuo Scenic Area presents picturesque scenery all the year round. As it is situated in the north of Kangding County, the home of love songs in Ganzi Tibetan Autonomous Prefecture of Sichuan, this site is also known as Kangding Love Song Scenic Area.

Mount SiGuNiang, the highest peak of Eastern Hengduan Range, is located in the bordering area of Xiaojin County and Wenchuan County in Ngawa Tibetan and Qiang Autonomous Prefecture, Sichuan Province. With a similar layout of the South European scenery, Mount Siguniang is also called the Chinese Alps.

The wide poplar forest on the benchland around Daocheng is one of the most favorite kids of Autumn. In October, it feasts your eyes with the glorious golden straight poplar forest along the clear river and fertile fields under the cerulean backdrop to make you love the way to Shangri-La Town. Bang River and Sela is the best shooting location.

Red Grassland in Sangdui Town, 28km away from Daocheng County, is the warmest autumn gift from god. In early October, this Tibetan rural village changes into a glowing world by painters with full intoxicating and flamboyant red grass against the yellow poplar and clear blue sky. It also offers a pleasant walk along the lake after your photo time
